

Stout ALUMNI NEWSLETTER

Volume IX Number 3

STOUT STATE COLLEGE, MENOMONIE, WISCONSIN

November 1961

The President's Message

A letter is a versatile creation -- capable of accomplishing many things. Thus, I hope that this greeting, which is my first "Newsletter" message to all Stout alumni, can serve several purposes.

First, a hearty "Thanks to the many of you who have sent me notes and letters during these past weeks. Being remembered by so many friends is a pleasant experience indeed. Equally gratifying was the opportunity to greet personally the many alumni who were here for Homecoming. Judging by the number of these graduates and their enthusiasm for the various events, "Homecoming 1961" at Stout State College was certainly a success.

But something more ominous and far-reaching impressed me about the attitudes of the graduates who returned to the campus. To be sure, they were reliving the past, but during the alumni meeting their thoughts and actions were directed to the future--and, in the course of the discussions, we at the college were put on the spot to provide some definite accomplishments.

If I can rephrase those thoughts, I think the alumni were, in general, saying this:

"We, as graduates of Stout, are actually Stout State College. Therefore, Stout is what each of us makes it. This is true wherever we may be, or whatever we may be doing. True, we do have traditions which inspire loyalty and unity, but too often we allow our loyalties to become narrowly personal or even dormant. Our college does not seem to provide adequate means whereby we can express our interests and exhibit our pride."

Therefore, in specific terms, your Alumni Association requested that we investigate the possibility of incorporating a Stout Development Council and Foundation. This may not be the proper name, but I agree with the idea in principle. Already we are investigating the steps essential to such an endeavor. Elsewhere on these pages you will read about some of the details.

All of this ferment is part of a Growing Stout State College. There is enthusiasm and pride on campus, and I would hope that you will share in these feelings with us. Another new dormitory is under construction. The inside of Bowman Hall (the Tower building) is being renovated. We have just moved into Fryklund Hall (the new shop and classroom building). The state architect is here this week to begin drafting plans for the long-awaited Health-Physical Education Fieldhouse-Auditorium. This latter building will be the first structure in our campus extension plan which stretches all the way down to Nelson Field.

These are some of the material evidences which characterize a Growing Stout, but even more exciting is the attitude of our staff and students, who are working in many ways and in many activities to take us from where we are to where we want to be in the future.

Our fondest hope is that you will drop in to see and feel all these things for yourself. The door is always open. And remember: You are Stout, wherever you are, whatever you do. Stout exists only to prepare capable, worthy graduates. We ask your assistance in carrying out this important task.

President William Micheels

Enrollment Sets Record

Enrollment at Stout State College reached a 68 year high this fall when 1652 eager learners registered during the week of September 5-8. The usual full program of testing, guidance, and social activities accompanied the registration period.

In the current student body 159 more young people than were part of Stout's campus population a year ago. Much of this increase resulted from the arrival of 625 freshmen, inasmuch as only 569 first year students registered last year in a total enrollment of 1493.

In addition to the present 625 freshmen, other classes include 393 sophomores, 288 juniors, and 292 seniors. Also enrolled are 26 full time graduate students and 28 part time registrants, the majority of the latter group working on graduate projects while off campus.

Evidence that Stout's international and national reputation is as great as ever can be seen by the fact that students have come to the campus from nine foreign countries and 23 states in addition to Wisconsin.

Foreign nations represented in the student body include Sudan, Korea, Vietnam, Indonesia, Canada, Ethiopia, Hungary, Jamaica, and Jordan.

To instruct this year's expanded enrollment, additional permanent faculty positions have been added, bringing the total of the present teaching staff to 109, in comparison with 99 a year ago. Also proving particularly helpful in accommodating the current large student body is occupancy of the shops, laboratories, and classrooms in newly-opened Fryklund Hall.

New Alumni Services

This year the news of fellow alumni will be presented under a new plan. Each active member will receive the STOUTONIA plus four newsletters. The STOUTONIA will carry news of recent campus happenings plus feature articles about alumni.

One of the highlights of each of the newsletters will be the personal news of fellow alumni. By keeping the copies on file, you should by the end of the year, have a good roster of all alumni members. This alone should be a reason to retain your active membership.

Local Chapter News

The Detroit Metropolitan Stout Alumni Chapter held a picnic at Stoepel Park on October 8. At the end of the first semester, an annual dinner dance is planned and in May a business and dinner meeting will be held. Officers for this year are: Marlo McCullough, President; Henry Hulten, Vice President; Mrs. Carl Gavic, Secretary; Ole Moe, Treasurer.

The Milwaukee Area Stout Alumni Chapter held a family type picnic in September, will be hosts for all Stout alumni attending W.E.A. Officers for this year are: Paul hanson, president; Richard Dignan, Vice President; Bob Hanna, Treasurer, Bob Koesler, Corresponding Secretary; and Barbara Fritz, Recording Secretary.

The Beloit Area Chapter (to be known hereafter as the Rock River Stout State College Alumni Association) held a reunion on October 7 at the Besly-Wells Club House in Beloit. At the next scheduled meeting, a charter will be presented to this group.

College Foundation plans

Shortly before or after you--as a Stout alumnus--read this "Newsletter," you're also to be the recipient of a special brochure which outlines a current fund-raising campaign at the college and, more than that, describes a concept of long term gift planning that is entirely new to Stout.

Under the guidance of President William J. Micheels, working in cooperation with a faculty committee, arrangements are being made to set up a large, all college Foundation to which gifts, donations and memorials can be designated, thus financing important college needs for which state funds are not available.

Such Foundations, already in existence in many universities and colleges, have been found to offer a number of advantages:

1. Provide a single authorize agency to which all contributions can be made, thus eliminating any problems of "where" or "to whom" gifts are to be sent. Such donations will be recognized publicly and, of course, are tax deductible.

2. Encourage more frequent, larger donations because of the publicity received by such a Foundation and by the important services which that Foundation makes possible.

3. Permit a diversity of objectives within a single agency. Thus a donor will be able to specify the area of activity for which his gift is to be used.

4. Make possible long range, integrated objectives for which funds are required and also to assure the most efficient use of contributions in reaching these objectives

During the annual business meeting of the Stout Alumni Association--held on campus during homecoming week-end--members of the Association, President Michells, and participating faculty members devoted much attention to the new Foundation.

In a brief address to those present, Dr. Micheels outlined the advantages of a Stout Foundation and explained the manner in which donations already received in memory of Emeritus President Burton E. Nelson could be distinct yet an integral part of a larger, all-campus fund.

Members participating in the business meeting were so greatly interested in the possibilities inherent in a Foundation that they delegated the Executive Committee of the Alumni Association to explore the potentialities which a Foundation offers and to cooperate with Stout officials in setting up a suitable plan of operation.

At present, an interim Stout Development Committee, headed by Dr. Herbert Anderson, is representing the college while plans are completed for the Foundation itself. That committee has already underway certain fund raising activities which are immediately imperative. The new explanatory brochure, mentioned earlier in this article, is the work of a sub-committee headed by K. L. Rue of the faculty and is one of these activities.

As Foundation plans mature in the near future, the present faculty committee will become an advisory body to a larger, more inclusive group composed of alumni, key lay people, and representative of faculty and administration.

Homecoming 1961 at Stout

Approximately 700 alumni and friends of Stout attended activities during Homecoming, 1961.

Classes from 1911 to 1961 were represented, and reunion luncheons of the classes of 1911, '36, '51 were held. Alumni flocked to the campus from the immediate area, but persons also attended from as far away as Texas, Kansas, and Michigan.

Jim Bailey, president of the Stout Alumni Association, conducted the annual business meeting.

Alumni in large numbers attended the coffee hour after the football game, and an overflow crowd enjoyed the homecoming dance on Saturday evening. The Blue Devils lost a hardfought 3 to 0 game to the LaCrosse eleven.

It will soon be time for us to remove all person's names from our active mailing list who are not paid up members for the current year. If you are wondering whether or not you have paid, please check your name on the address side of this newsletter. All persons paid have a red check near their name. If your name is not checked, it means that your dues are still outstanding.

While we would like to continue sending all mailings to all persons, present mailing costs prohibit it. Consequently it is the policy of the National Office to pull all names of non-active members by November 15 of each year.

Remember your college needs the organized support of all of its alumni. This support is best effected through membership in the Stout Alumni Association. As you know, Stout is a small college that has its alumni stationed all around the world. This factor alone necessitates all of us joining hands to work together for continued growth and success. All Stout alumni are recruiting agents for their alma mater. They must keep themselves informed of new campus developments. Your Association will help you do this with the current STOUTONIAS and through the four annual news-letters of which this bulletin is a part.
